

What's Happening on The Latah Trail

What is the Latah Trail?

Once completed, the Latah Trail will be an 11-mile paved path between Troy & Moscow. It will connect to the Bill Chipman Palouse Trail via Moscow's Paradise Path.

Note: This is a conceptual map and is intended to illustrate possibilities only.

When will the trail be completed?

The first mile of the trail was paved in Sept. 2002. Four more miles will be paved from Moscow to Eastman acres by the fall of 2003, with the remainder scheduled for completion by the fall of 2005. Improvement projects and naming opportunities will continue under the oversight of Latah County & the Latah Trail Foundation.

Who is funding construction?

Funding for construction has been provided by Idaho Transportation Dept., Idaho Dept. of Parks & Rec., Latah County, City of Troy, local business, & individual donations through the non-profit Latah Trail Foundation. The Latah County Parks & Recreation Dept. will oversee the trail as a linear park.

Who is involved with this project?

We all are --volunteers, trail users, donors, and area communities are important. A citizen advisory team, which received technical assistance from the Rivers & Trails Program of the National Park Service, recently developed a concept plan for the trail. To request a copy of the plan email latahtrail@moscow.com or write to Latah Trail Foundation, PO Box 9344 Moscow, ID 83843.
